Most-anticipated ChinICT Top Innovator Award ceremony rewards the best among the best Beijing, P.R. China, May 25th 2007 Taking place again in Beijing on May 24th and 25th, ChinICT 2007 - now the largest event in ICT entrepreneurship in Asia - has rewarded 30 rising stars in the IT sector both from China and Europe.

“ChinICT 2007 has been a tremendous success – as it was an excellent networking and business development platform for us” says Gabriel Gross Founder & CEO of Dolphian – and laureate of the ChinICT-Cisco Award this year. “ChinICT provided us with a range of opportunities to meet interesting entrepreneurs and at the same time a number of very high profile and experienced investment professionals and IT players.

We look forward to participating to the 2008 edition” points out Fritz Demopoulos, CEO and Founder of Qunar. “ChinICT was even more impactful this year, in particular through the strong support of leading players such as Sina, Microsoft, Motorola, Cisco, Qualcomm, Telefonica, Nasdaq, Aigo, DFJ, Kleiner Perkins, or NYSE/Euronext, AIM and Hong Kong Stock Exchange – not to mention the patronage of Viviane Reding, EU commissioner for Information Society & Media” recognizes Franck Nazikian, President of ChinICT, who states that the 2008 edition will also take place in Beijing, for the third time, on May 22nd and 23rd.

ChinICT 2007 Award Winners jointly with ChinICT 2007 sponsors including Microsoft, Motorola, Sina, Nasdaq, Tempo2, Aigo, Qualcomm, Cisco, NYSE-Euronext, Bloomberg, Draper Fisher Jurvetson, Telefonica, AIM, HKEx.
